Amber Holt is a professional Arctic Cat® snowmobile instructor with an immeasurable passion for backcountry riding. She is owner and master instructor of Backcountry Basics, offering clinics and seminars to those new to mountain riding, in a relaxed, nonintimidating environment. Where riders not only achieve individual goals, but also learn the fundamental skills to become a safe and skilled backcountry rider.

After her first snowmobile ride in Alaska, it's been Amber's lifelong pursuit to show others the experience and rewards of backcountry riding. Years of experience and a great knowledge of the outdoors have made Amber one of the most sought-after snowmobile instructors around.
